THE JUSTICE FINES THE HOBOS.

Hearing in Their Case Consumes Several Hours-Other Offenders.

The continued cases of David Weisiger, Willie Phaup, and Percy Depriest, the three "Hobos" charged with throwing stones in the street, was called in the Po ice Court yesterday morning, and fully three hours were occupied by the Court in its hearing. The Justice gave the case his careful attention, and every fact connected with the case and many that were not were listened to carefully. Several weeks ago several lads rocked a mulatto negro, named Frank Taylor. near the corner of Third and Main streets, and Taylor received a wound in the head which required the ambulance the head which required the ambulance surgeon to take several stitches. Officer Portlaux was put on the case, and swore out the warrants on information received. A colored boy named Easter Bradley testified that Weisiger threw a stone at the driver of a water-cart, and because Taylor warned the driver to look out, the boys chased Taylor and himself down Third and into a yard, where he was going to deliver vegetables. where he was going to deliver vegetables.

They were throwing rocks all the time, and Taylor was hit. William McCoy, a colored man, gave similar testimony. He held that Taylor was doing nothing when hit by the rock.

Dick Cullen, the alleged leader of the "Hobos," testified that Welsiger was sitting on the curbstone, and because water was thrown upon him by the cart, he threw a rock at the driver. Dick later saw Weisiger throwing stones down Third street, and stones being thrown back, but he did not see who threw them on south Third street. Mac. G. Newton testified that he witnessed the battle, and that he saw Taylor throw the first rock. He had not arrived when the cart passed.

The charge against Phaup was dismissed, and he went on the stand in the interest of Weisiger, He admitted that Weisiger had thrown a rock. He said that Taylor used insulting language to Weisiger for throwing at the driver of the cart, and first threw at Weisiger, while the latter was following him. Then Weisiger threw and hit Taylor on the head.

Weisiger claimed that, while he threw a rock, he did not throw at the driver of the cart. He claimed that Taylor was the aggressor, and, under the searching cross-examination of Attorney Maury, made a bad witness for himself.

The colored boy, Taylor, denied using bad language to Weisiger, and said that he was running away from the boys when struck by the stone.

Weisiger was fined to for throwing stones on the street, and so was Deoriest. During the trial a warrant was issued for Weisiger, charging him with assault on Taylor, and for this he was found guilty, and fined 10. He was also pus under bond of 100 for twelve months' good behavior, with Mr. Barton H. Wise as surety. Taylor was not fined. The case of W. T. CHICAGO PRODUCE MARKET.

CHICAGO PRODUCE MARKET.

CHICAGO, August 12.—There was no firmness and scarcely a steady spot in the wheat market to-day. From the tap of the bell until the final trule the sole object of traders was to sell, and they were not captious about the prices obtained. Elevator people, it was said, were preparing to deliver freely of wheat on september contracts, and as no one is anxious to carry the grain under the present stiff money rates, that served to accelerate the downward course of prices. September wheat opened at a decline of from 64, to 65sc. to 54sc., and closed at 54sc.—14s2sc under yesterday. Cash wheat was weak and 1914sc, per bushel lower. Corn, with the leading market, was in a declining state, and the outlook for the corn crop, as reported to this market, was in quite as discouraging a condition as it was possible for it to be. As in wheat, the unsettled financial condition was a considerable factor. Cash corn was weak and ½c. lower. CHICAGO PRODUCE MARKET.

Cans were mable to assert any firmness, in view of the weakness developing in other grains. September closed ic. under besterday. The cash market was be-Neaterday. The cash market was $2c. lower.

Provisions.—The hog market declined 5c. this morning, and product lost a corresponding value. Whilst the business was of more volume, it was evident that traders were keeping a strict watch, so that another flurry like that of last week would not find them unprepared. The depression in grain was later an important factor in produce. September pork closed 17½c, lower, September flat 5c, lower, and September ribs 10c, lower.
